First of all CAMRA would like to thank all of those of you who attended the 28th Great Grampian Beer Festival held at Pittodrie Stadium 29th – 31st May 2014. We hope you enjoyed the event, found some beers, cider and perry that you enjoyed and will be back for more next year. Please don't forget that Real Ale is not just for beer festivals, get down to your favourite pubs and clubs and hustle the licensees to get some of your favourite beers in all year round.

After last year's record attendance we knew it would be a hard act to follow and so it proved. Things weren't helped by the excellent weather and the fact we can't facilitate any outside drinking at the venue thanks to licensing restrictions. Whilst Thursday and Friday weren't as busy as in 2013 there was still a good turn-out and once again the attendance on the Saturday continued its slight growth, an ideal opportunity for those who do not want to take part in what can be a hectic Friday crush or if you are travelling from further afield. We opened on the final day with 75 beers and thanks to some steady drinking we whittled it down to 27 beers left at the very end with a really good spread of beer styles. So much for the persistent reputation of "they always run out on the last day" which hasn't been the case for many years. However we'd love you all to come along and try to drink us dry. And with free re-entry why not come for more than one visit.

The next festival, the 29th Great Grampian Beer Festival is now being planned for either late May or early June 2015. See www.aberdeencamra.org.uk for details.

A hardy band of perennial volunteers and a smattering of new hands arrived very early on the Tuesday prior to the public opening at the Richard Donald Stand in the Pittodrie Stadium ready to receive all the deliveries and build the festival prior to the onslaught of the drinkers. It's perhaps as well they arrived early as so did many of the deliveries of beers and glasses. Over the rest of the day almost everything turned up and on time so all those planning hours felt worthwhile. 2014 saw the repeat of bottled beers after reasonable sales again last year along with a cider and perry range to match last year's sales volumes. As is traditional there was the end of day treat of a few pints for the set-up crew.

Two physically less demanding, but very long, days of preparation followed including the small matter of testing all 100+ beers before unleashing them on the discerning drinker! It's a hard job but somebody has to do it.

Beers were sourced from all over the UK, Shetland in the north to Devon in the south, Isle of Skye in the west to Norfolk in the east. Grampian was represented with beers from Burnside Brewery of Laurencekirk together with Deeside of Banchory, six° north of Stonehaven, Windswept of Lossiemouth, Brewmeister of Keith and Speyside Craft of Forres. The Aberdeen, Grampian & Northern Isles CAMRA branch area also has three real ale breweries in the Northern Isles, namely Valhalla, Orkney and Highland. Once again there were a lot of enquiries as to why there were no beers from the brewery in Ellon. To keep the records straight, beers were requested but once again they declined to sell us any, in fact they didn't even reply to any of our enquiries. There were 98 beers from 70 different breweries, including 79 beers and 20 breweries which had not been seen at the beer festival before. Whilst we do not select beers for the benefit of "tickers" it is an opportunity to try out the wares of the newer producers and with so many new breweries, particularly in Scotland, who are willing to supply to the festival, why not? Thanks to the hard working team who spent hours soaking towels in icy-cold water and wrapping up the casks. They battled against hard against frost bite whilst the beers were kept at cellar temperatures during the set up and throughout the event. Such are the efforts required to Keep the beer at an ideal drinking temperature.

FINANCIAL CORNER

CAMRA MEMBERS INVESTMENT CLUB ("CMIC")

Total funds held in breweries etc. are fast approaching £17m. and the Unit price has risen again - by over 12% in the last year. The Club organises brewery tours for the members every year, one of them overseas. The next UK trip is to Moorhouses in September. The Club is open to all CAMRA members, each of whom is allowed to make monthly, quarterly or annual payments to the Club. Each member can invest a maximum of £2,000 p.a. (£166 per month). The minimum investment is just £5 per month. More details available at <http://www.cmic.uk.com/>

SCOTISH BREWERIES FINANCIAL NEWS

Generally, most of the Scottish breweries are fairly small and fall beneath the threshold requirement for providing detailed financial information to Companies House, but, from the limited information published, most seem to be surviving and have generally improved their financial strength over the last year. Brewdog, as ever, are the ones who stand out – their size and status necessitates publication of more financial information for investors and analysts, in particular. These showed a 70% increase in sales on the previous year - up to over £18m. now. Export sales - mostly to Europe - were up by well over 60% to £6.6m. Gross Profit % was up as well, so pre-tax profits were almost 4 times higher at £2.36m

Brewdog's results include those of Brewdog Bars Ltd. plus a 50% stake in Mikkeller Brewdog Ltd. and 25% in Brewdog Aberdeen Ltd. The net worth of the whole business doubled to over £12m. and there appear to be adequate financial reserves to finance their continuing expansion. No dividends were paid and the company remains under the control of founders James Watt and Martin Dickie. The number of employees in the business increased by 50% to 186.

LOGO COMPETITION

So what did you think of the "Inspiration-Ale" logo? Do you think you can do better? If so then send your entries to beerfestival@aberdeencamra.org.uk before 30th September 2014. Entries will need to be in something similar to jpg, tiff, gif file format, a single colour and have sufficient clarity when reproduced no bigger than 3" on a glass. As a rule of thumb a bad pun in the strap line always seems popular.

SUPERMARKET TAKEOVERS

Next time you get your groceries at a Sainsbury Local shop, you might just be in an ex-pub.

In Aberdeen city centre there are at least two which have been converted. The latest one is on Guild Street which was until recently the Criterion Bar, latterly owned by Frank McDougall. The other one was at the top end of Union Street, Beluga. None of those sold real ale, but it is still of concern to CAMRA who nationally are collecting data on this subject to see what can be done to stop this happening. The planning laws are often different in Scotland compared to England and Wales.

You might think that it is only pubs who are already struggling due to smoking ban, recession etc. But no, there are many throughout Britain which are being converted even though they are trading and making a profit.

It is certainly sad to see any pub being converted from a pub, real ale pub or not. Remember, any pub could be a potential real ale pub. The Criterion did attempt to sell it some time ago but it was never a success. Problem is that it is often a done deal before CAMRA finds out through the local press and little can then be done to campaign against it.

FESTIVAL CHARITY

As usual the festival played host for a local charity to raise funds. This year it was the turn of Inspire Aberdeen, who collected over £2,500 in cash and unused beer token donations, to be spent helping all those needy kids and young adults with learning difficulties. On their behalf we would like to thank all those who generously donated.

INSPIRE

With your help we can ensure that barriers and inequalities within our communities are reduced, and we can move towards a better future for the adults and children that we support.

PUB CLOSURES

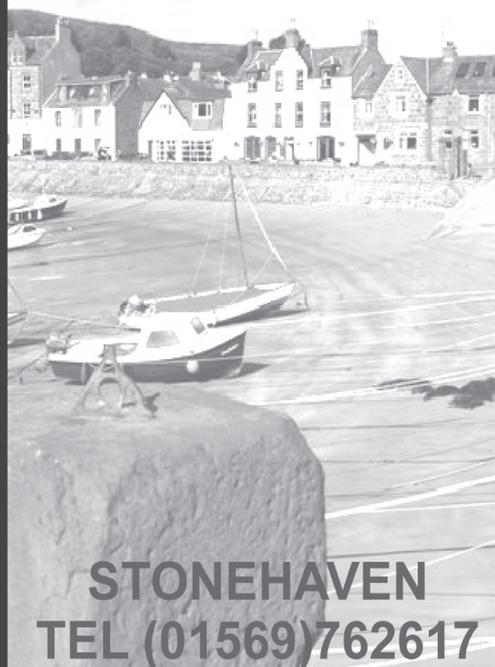

It was reported in the local press recently that the Old Mill Inn, Maryculter, has been sold. It is to be used to house workers building the Western Peripheral Route. It is not known if the existing bar will remain open to the public. On last survey, it had three handpumps selling Deuchars IPA, Timothy Taylor Landlord and a guest beer. It has been a long standing outlet and has made CAMRA's Good Beer Guide on a few occasions. It also used to be a popular night spot in the 60s when a free bus would pick up at Wallace Statue and return you back later after closing time. In fact, the writer of this piece celebrated getting engaged in July 1966 by going to a dance there featuring the Facells, a local Aberdeen band who, last November, celebrated their 50th anniversary with a couple of gigs at the Lemon Tree.

Kintore is now a village with no licenced premises, except for perhaps a grocer or two. The Torryburn Hotel closed a few years ago and is now boarded up. Also, the only pub remaining, the Kintore Arms, has apparently been sold and is currently closed. It was going to be converted to a Chinese restaurant by the same company who have bought the Bridge at Port Elphinstone and that is to be a Chinese also. However, the plans are not going ahead for the Kintore Arms apparently so its future is uncertain. Kintore once had both licenced premises selling real ale, then none and now both are closed. You would think with the expansion of Kintore in recent years that it would have no problem supporting a local pub, but apparently not. Incidentally, it would be interesting to find out if The Kintore Arms still has its 1960s Tennents Lager font which was a solid metal image of a yellow lager glass complete with foaming head. Apparently a few years ago Tennents Brewery wanted to buy it back from the pub for their museum but the then publican decided not to part with it. Might it appear on E-Bay?

The Monkey House at the corner of Union Street and Union Terrace, selling Draught Bass when it initially opened several years ago, has apparently been sold by the Epic Group to Thai Kun, who already have a presence at Union Square, to convert into a Thai restaurant.

The Boars Head at Kinmuck, winner of CAMRA's very first Pub Of The Year (POTY) award in 1989, is now a Tandoori restaurant.

FESTIVAL ROUNDUP

Festival Featured Brewery

The festival's featured brewery was Cromarty Brewery who had six of their beers Atlantic Drift, Ghost Town, Happy Chappy, Kowabunga, Red Rocker and Rogue Wave on offer. Only Scottish brewery having a first outing at the festival was Old Worthy.

As well as the festival and showcase brewery logos each glass was printed with the message "Don't Drink & Drive" as part of our joint campaign with Grampian Police road safety division. After all we want you to have a good time, get home safely so that you can come and join us again and again.

Recruitment

The festival also attracted a large response from the licensed trade, both local publicans and the not-so-local brewers. Overseas visitors from the USA, Denmark, Norway and even England (some bits of which are further away than some parts of Norway) made themselves known. But who travelled the furthest?

And the winner was

As usual we had our own competition for the punter's favourite beer. This year's winner was Windswept's Weizen which was also the fastest selling beer. Ayr's Dr. Hornbook was the runner up with Cromarty's Kowabunga coming third. The highest placed non-Scottish beer was Box Steam's Funnel Blower in fourth place.

The lucky winner of the voter's prize was Graeme Leitch. Lucky Graeme got to enjoy a case of bottled beers kindly donated by Cromarty Brewery for his efforts.

It was very encouraging to note once again the number of votes cast. Sadly as always there were several attempts to cheat by casting multiple votes in an attempt to either change the result or increase their chances of winning the voter's prize of a case of bottled beers.

Advertising

Whilst we're thanking people we'd like to acknowledge all those of you who put up posters to advertise the festival particularly those pubs who allow us to borrow their customers for the weekend.

Thanks

The Aberdeen, Grampian & Northern Isles branch of CAMRA would particularly like to thank the following organisations for their help with the festival: First and foremost this year's showcase brewery Cromarty Brewery and our hosts at Pittodrie, Aberdeen Football Club plc. Also Flying Firkin, all the supplying breweries, Hallam Cider and Deeside Drinks Emporium who supplied the beers, cider and perry. Also thanks to Alex at Maritime Scaffolding who support us both literally and figuratively with the scaffolding, Gordon at Arrowdown for the beer vouchers, Paul at Agility Logistics & Dave at HSS for storage, transport and equipment loans, Dave at HRH Geology for the volunteer shirts, Susan at Keltec People for the Red Cross provision, Richard at APAL for the carrier bags and Nicola at Euro Weld for the programme printing. Last but not least, Paul at Senergy Development Solutions for the beers in bay 5. We would also like to thank all those individuals, far too many to list individually, who gave their time, help, knowledge, experience, energy and passion to enable this festival to go ahead.

Heroes

The following people put a lot of time and effort into making the festival a success. Without volunteers like these there would be no festival. On behalf of CAMRA we thank you and hope there are even more volunteers next time.
